"You shall love the Lord,
your God,
with all your heart,
with all your soul,
and with all your mind.
This is the greatest and first commandment."

In the first reading, God gives the people of Israel specific instructions for how they are to treat others, especially those who are struggling. Paul tells the Thessalonians that their faith has become a model for other Christians. In the Gospel, Jesus shares that the greatest commandments are love of God and love of neighbor.

Message from our Pastor Rev. Dan Nuñez Reintroduction of the Precious Blood and Holy Communion

Following consultation with the Liturgical Directives and our Diocesan guidelines, St. Columba is pleased to announce the resumption of Holy Communion under both species. Beginning on the weekend of November 28-29, First Sunday of Advent, the faithful will once again have the option to receive the sacred host and the precious blood from the chalice during select Lord's day celebrations.

- 1) Fullness of the Sacrament: The Church reminds us that Christ is fully and entirely present (Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity) under either single species. Receiving the Host alone constitutes a complete and valid Holy Communion.
- 2) Voluntary Participation: Receiving from the Chalice is entirely optional. If you are feeling unwell or have health concerns, please refrain from taking the Chalice.
- 3) No Intinction: Communicants are NOT permitted to dip the Host into the Chalice themselves (intinction), as this poses a significant risk of accidental spilling or profanation.
- 4) Liturgical Ministers Needed: To ensure we can reverently distribute both species at our regular Sunday Mass, we need additional Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion.

30th Sunday In Ordinary Time Year A
The Double Chord Of Love

In the Gospel, a scholar tries to trap Jesus by asking for the single greatest commandment. Instead of picking one law out of hundreds, Jesus binds two together into an unbreakable knot: love God completely and love your neighbor as yourself.

True faith is never a solitary line stretching only toward heaven. It is a crossroad where our devotion to God must intersect horizontally with the flesh and blood people around us. Jesus reveals that we cannot truly love the invisible God if we ignore the visible needs of our neighbors. The first reading underscores this by demanding justice and compassion for the most vulnerable, the foreigners, widows and orphans.

Loving our neighbor is not just a vague feeling of goodwill; it requires concrete action. It means seeing the face of Christ in the marginalized, the lonely, and those with whom we disagree. When we stretch our hearts to care for others, our lives become a living reflection of God's grace, echoing the early Thessalonians whose vibrant faith inspired everyone around them. Today, we are challenged to live out His double chord of love, letting our devotion to God fuel our generosity toward the world.
